Imagine darkness increasing as the new moon glides across the Sun's face. The sky grows darker, the air grows cooler and excitement builds. Suddenly the blue sky vanishes, stars appear, and the busy world stops in awe.

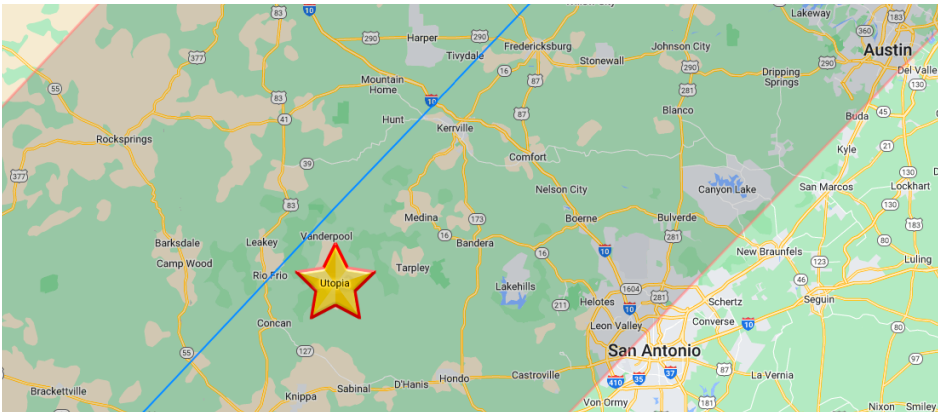

Behind the Moon's black disk, red prominences flow outward from the Sun's hidden photosphere. In an instant, a pearly corona with streamers of glowing gas appear, surrounding the Sun's darkened disk. In one moment your world is magically transformed, because this single event is both real and surreal.

After four awe-inducing minutes, the shadow moves slowly on, leaving you in sunlight with images and memories to cherish.

Join the Houston Museum of Natural Science at LoneHollow Ranch, a luxury ranch getaway, for an experience of a lifetime: a total solar eclipse, last seen in Texas in 1878 and not again until 2045.

Only Option A (Single Bunks) are currently available.

LOCATION

LoneHollow Ranch is 3,000 acres of adventure and natural Texas beauty. Two miles of paved roads throughout reveal thoughtfully planned pastures, longhorn cattle, a variety of multi-colored ponies, and glimpses of wildlife such as jackrabbits, armadillos, road runners and the other South Texas creatures rarely seen in the city. There are also three spring-fed lakes nestled at the base of the land formation flowing into the river, and at night, millions of stars reveal themselves in the inky sky, one of many reminders of the vastness of space.

TRIP STAFF

HMNS Astronomy Crew

James Wooten, Astronomer with 27 years at the Museum and degrees from MIT and Rice

Henry Ramos, Planetarium & Discovery Dome Operator and bilingual in Spanish

Will Yokley, Planetarium & Discovery Dome Operator

Ken Hayes, Expedition Center Director

Nicole Temple, HMNS Vice President of Education

Nicole Temple's responsibilities include all facets of the Museum associated with HMNS programming for adults as well as the nearly 400,000 students that participate in programming annually. During her tenure at HMNS, she has cultivated international partnerships, created content for Giant Screen Films, and helped to develop several exhibits including Death by Natural Causes. Due to the nature of the Museum and its programming, Temple's skills run the gamut and include everything from curriculum development to taxidermy.

HMNS Education Crew

Experienced field crew members from the Museum's Education Department will be onsite to help provide an experience that is educational and entertaining. We are bringing the Museum experience to LoneHollow Ranch with activities such as critter walks, eclipse arts & crafts, learning about the geology and paleontology of the area, birdwatching, games, night hikes, and more!

LODGING

Single bunk housing features bunk beds, and semi-private bathrooms with communal sinks, curtained showers, and toilets with doors.

Private rooms feature a variety of bunk beds, twin beds, and queen or king sized beds with a pillowtop mattress along with private bathrooms.

Suites offer additional luxury with extra living space, upgraded finishes, and a home away from home feel.

ITINERARY

SATURDAY, APRIL 6 (D)

Welcome Dinner & Orientation

After your afternoon arrival to LoneHollow Ranch, enjoy exploring the ranch before dinner. A Welcome Dinner will be held in the dining hall. Nicole Temple will review all of the activities for the next two days. The Astronomy Crew will review weather reports and the latest images of activity on the sun, explain compass directions for the eclipse event, and lead evening stargazing. The daytime temperature will be around 80 F with evening lows around 50 F.

Evening Stargazing, Night Hike

Telescopes for solar photography can also show the wonders of the spring sky. Brilliant Orion and Jupiter are in the west as night falls. You can discover star clusters, double stars, nebulae and even other galaxies in the dark Texas skies. Experience moving a telescope to adjust for the Earth's rotation and finding north can be valuable when using a telescope for the Earth's rotation during the solar eclipse.

Alternatively, you can enjoy a night hike with Museum Staff, where you might discover nocturnal critters such as scorpions, who also happen to fluoresce under a black light.

SUNDAY, APRIL 7 (B, L, D)

Ranch Exploration

After breakfast, you are free to watch exciting planetarium programs in our portable dome theater and enjoy activities around the ranch such as playing games, birding, hiking, crafting, photography lessons and more! An early lunch will be served in the dining hall.

- Rattlesnake Point Hike: At an elevation of approximately 2,000 feet, you quickly forget that you are looking across the Texas Hill Country, but wonder if you might be in Colorado. There are two hike options for guests, a one-hour long hike and a shorter 25-minute hike. At the top, you are rewarded with a beautiful view of the valley below and are invited to stay awhile to soak it in.

Eclipse Simulation & Afternoon

After an early lunch, we will equip binoculars and cameras for viewing the sun's partial phases and attaching solar filters to telescopes. Then at noon we will begin the practice for totality, selecting our locations and observing the Sun with cameras and telescopes. This is the time for anything to fail and for rearranging folks for the best views the following afternoon. Because we have the whole ranch, we can make all the arrangements we need for the best viewing. After the simulation and finding your perfect spot to view the eclipse tomorrow, you are welcome to relax, continue to enjoy provided activities, watch a show in the planetarium dome, or continue exploring the ranch.

Eclipse Eve Dinner

Dinner will include the latest updates on weather, solar activity and locations for evening viewing as well as set up for the eclipse event. By dinner everyone should have eclipse glasses and filters for cameras and should have practiced observing the sun at the time of totality as well as trying photography of the uneclipsed sun. There will also be time for questions and answers affecting the whole group.

Evening Stargazing, Night Hike

This night we will attempt some photography through telescopes and capturing sky trails as well as our normal night sky viewing. This will be a good time to get comfortable tracking the movement in the sky in preparation for our eclipse viewing. Tonight is also another chance to go on a night hike with Museum Staff.

MONDAY, APRIL 8 (B, L)

In the morning, everyone will pack up and then enjoy a delicious breakfast in anticipation of the big event. Everyone has the freedom to observe the entire eclipse experience at their leisure. All belongings must be out of your room by 10 a.m.

Total Solar Eclipse 2024

The HMNS Astronomy Crew will provide commentary on the phases of the Eclipse and instruction on using your eclipse-viewing glasses and photography equipment. The eclipse experience occurs in early afternoon beginning with first contact, when the Moon's disk first appears in front of the Sun at 12:13:33 PM. We must wait until 1:30:53 PM for the beginning of totality which lasts 4 minutes and 26 seconds, ending at 1:35:19 PM. The brilliant planet Venus to the lower right of the eclipsed sun and the giant Jupiter to its upper left will make totality even more exciting. We can then relax as the Moon completes its trip across the Sun's disk at 2:54:25 PM.

Eclipse Afternoon

After totality, a grab-and-go lunch will be available in the dining hall. Then with a few parting words, Museum Staff will bid you "Happy Trails!" as you leave the ranch with new memories of an experience unlike any other.

PRE-TRIP EVENTS

Pre-trip programs to practice and prepare for the big event will be scheduled for the spring of 2024.

We will focus on the spectacular night sky in April and cover what equipment is best for capturing the eclipse and for stargazing. Photography options exist from cell phones to cameras with telescopes to capture wide angle views of the sky and telephoto videos. You will have experts to help you make the best decision and to provide equipment to share. At the ranch, you will receive filters for your cameras and glasses for you to wear during the eclipse’s partial phases.

We will also review all equipment in time for you to purchase batteries and other items from your preferred retailer, which will be in very short supply leading up to the event. We will also practice in the Burke Baker Planetarium with the day and night skies over Utopia.

Preparation and practice are keys to the best eclipse experience. The four minutes and 26 seconds of totality will go fast so your photography should be effortless and not hamper your enjoyment of the eclipse.

INCLUDED ACTIVITIES AT LONEHOLLOW RANCH

Adventure awaits you at LoneHollow Ranch. Activities for all ages can be found at every turn, making your stay memorable. Opportunities include planetarium shows in our portable dome, day and night hiking, arts & crafts, stargazing, relaxing in rocking chairs around a blazing fire pit, bug collecting, basketball, tennis, pickleball, wiffleball, volleyball, cornhole, nine square, frisbee golf, and more!
